CIVIL SUIT ENTERED.

United States Levies on All Property Belonging to Neely.

It Is Believed That the Government Has Discovered Money or Property Concealed by Neely and Will Attach It.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—United States District Attorney Wishard, on behalf of the government, has brought suit against Charles F. W. Neely to attach all the property belonging to the latter that may be found in this state. The suit was brought under orders from Attorney General Griggs.

The suit is based on an affidavit sworn to against Neely by Inspector General George H. Burton, who investigated the shortage in the Cuban accounts for the government. Neely is accused of embezzling $45,375.25 from the government between January 1, 1898, and April 30 of this year. The actual receipts from the different post offices in Cuba that were turned over to Neely for these four months are set forth as follows: January, $45,302.22; February, $37,222.06; March, $27,602.80; April, $28,925.34; total, $122,656.62.

Of these sums which he collected, Neely turned over to the treasurer of the island the following amounts: January, $17,530.00; February, $24,365.00; March, $16,926.44; April, $18,459.88; total, $77,281.37.

This makes a total of $45,375.25 which, it is charged, he misappropriated from the receipts of the different offices. In his affidavit Gen. Burton says he was first assigned by Gen. Wood to examine the vouchers and accounts of the department of posts of the island on April 24. On April 26 the inspector discovered the irregularities.

Muncie, Ind., May 31.—The Neely Printing Co., which was established by Charles F. W. Neely, of the Cuban postal service, now under arrest on charges of extensive embezzlement in that department, was closed by United States Marshal Foley, of Indianapolis, acting on a warrant of attachment issued on the petition of the government. The closing of the establishment throws 50 men out of employment.

It is alleged that Neely recently disposed of the property to Thomas Campbell, of Zanesville, O., and General Manager R. H. Cowan, in order to prevent confiscation by the government. Mr. Campbell says, however, that Neely has a half interest in the establishment. The matter will be settled in the federal court at Indianapolis.

Havana, May 31.—Although in consequence of the Decoration day functions the post office and the offices of the postal department were closed, Mr. Bristow and the inspectors were hard at work until a late hour. Mr. Bristow has placed the money and register bureaus under a chief, thus effecting a reduction of $3,400 in expenses. The appointment bureau was also reorganized, its expenditures being reduced $1,650. These reforms go into force Friday. On July 1 the bureau of finance will cease to exist. The salaries paid in that bureau have aggregated $11,300. The work done there will hereafter be done by the bureau of stamps and supplies, with a total salary list of $4,900.

Mr. Bristow says the work of reorganizing and inspection reveals disorder and carelessness even greater than had been supposed. For instance, there is no record of any kind respecting postal supplies for many months.

La Lucha, discussing the extravagance of Estes G. Rathbone, says: "Mr. Rathbone had higher authority than his own for every cent expended, but owing to party loyalty he has kept quiet under insults. It is likely he will submit much longer."

The general belief among Cubans, which expresses itself in the local papers, is that C. F. W. Neely will be brought back to Cuba.

Mr. Rathbone has assured his friends that he intends to leave the island Saturday. If the authorities carry out their original plan, he will not be allowed to leave, but will be placed under arrest—a step which the authorities have hitherto been unwilling to take.

Lieut. Col. Burton, inspector general of the division; Mr. Jones, the attorney specially detailed to assist in the investigation, and Auditor Kent have arrived here. Lieut. Col. Burton expects to return north almost immediately.

New York, May 29.—The arraignment of Charles F. W. Neely, which was to have been made before Commissioner Shields in the United States district court Monday on the criminal charges pending against him in connection with the Cuban postal frauds, was adjourned until June 5. The adjournment was taken to await the decision of Gov. Roosevelt in regard to the power of the state of New York to issue extradition papers against Neely.

HAWAIIAN ADVICES.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Dead—Riot Among Japanese—First Step in Politics.

San Francisco, May 31.—The steamer Gaelic, from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu, brings the following advices from Honolulu, dated May 22:

Albert Francis Judd, chief justice of the supreme court of Hawaii, died at his residence, Nuuanu valley, on the 20th. He had been ill for several months. He was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Garrett P. Judd, who came here under the auspices of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions on the ship Parthian, arriving at Honolulu March 30, 1823. He was born in Honolulu, January 7, 1828. He graduated from Yale in 1858 as a bachelor of arts, and in the law school when he was 20 years of age. Chief Justice Judd's political career began with his appointment as attorney general of the kingdom under Lunalilo in 1863. He became first assistant justice February 1, 1877, and on the death of Chief Justice Harris became chief justice November 5, 1881.

The democrats have taken the first steps for the organization of the party in the territory of Hawaii. The gathering was one that filled the hall to its capacity and numbered 500. Those who called the meeting and felt themselves sponsors in some degree for its success express themselves as being thoroughly pleased and gratified with the outlook.

A report comes from Koonai that in a riot among the Japanese employees of a plantation two men were killed and a number injured. The trouble arose over the refusal of a number of men to join in a strike for a holiday on the occasion of the wedding of the crown prince. The strikers went in a body to compel the workers to quit for the day, and the trouble arose, resulting as above stated. Officers have been sent to the scene of the trouble.

BOER RESOLUTION.

The Teller Measure Expressing Sympathy Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Washington, May 30.—A house bill permitting the construction of a dam across New river in Grayson county, Virginia, was passed when the senate convened Tuesday.

The Teller resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers was then laid before the senate, and Mr. Bacon (Ga.) addressed the senate.

No senator failed, he thought, to sympathize with the Boers. Such senators, at least, as are devoted to liberty and free government. This is a case of two weak republics engaged in a struggle for life with the greatest empire in the world; of a pastoral, home-loving people, engaged in a death struggle for the protection of their homes and their government; of 23,000 or 30,000 plain farmers in a death struggle with an army of 250,000 men. He could understand, however, why senators, though they might sympathize with the Boers, might not desire to commit the senate to a proposition that was violative of international law.

The pending resolution was, in his opinion, conservative, proper and not in any way violative of international law.

The Teller Boer resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations by a vote of 40 to 26.

FINISHED THEIR WORK.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers Has Adjourned.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 31.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers adjourned at 2 o'clock, after voting to meet in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1901. Thomas M. Neil, of Newcastle, Pa., was elected assistant president to succeed Benj. I. Davis, who was made manager of the Amalgamated Journal, the new official organ of the association.

The conference committee of the manufacturers will meet the wage committee of the association in a few days and agree upon a new scale for the year beginning June 30.

The following officers were re-elected: President, T. J. Shaffer; secretary-treasurer, John Williams; assistant secretary, R. F. Tighe. Trustees and vice presidents were also elected.

Washington, May 31.—The amount of bonds so far exchanged for the new twos is $284,213,050, of which $63,425,350 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks. Two per cent. bonds received for redemption to date $329,500.

Yellow Fever in Cuba.

Havana, May 30.—Five cases of yellow fever have broken out at Santa Clara among the men of the 2d cavalry who are married to Cuban women and who live out of the barracks. There are only two cases in the province of Havana, and there is not one in the city.

Dewey on a Social Trip.

Washington, May 31.—Adm. Dewey has arranged to leave Washington on June 5 for a trip that will carry him as far as Grand Rapids, Mich. It is purely a social trip in response to invitations issued some months ago.

Chinatown Quarantine Kept Up.

San Francisco, May 31.—The quarantine of Chinatown is being maintained. The street cars are still allowed to pass through the infected district, but the passengers are not allowed to occupy outside seats.

AN ARBITRATION LAW.

A Board to Be Appointed to Investigate the St. Louis Strike.

President of Merchantile Organizations and Clubs and Representatives of the Newspapers Agreeing to Arbitrate Trouble.

St. Louis, May 29.—State Labor Commissioner Thomas P. Rixey sent copies of the following letter to President Whitaker, of the Transit Co., and Chairman T. B. Edwards, of the strikers' grievance committee:

"Dear Sir:—Your attention is respectfully directed to chapter 121, article 2, sections 8,137, 8,138, 8,139, 8,140 and 8,141, of the revised statutes of Missouri, as applicable to the present dispute existing between the St. Louis Transit Co. and its employees.

"In accordance with said law, you are hereby requested to suggest the names of two suitable persons to act as arbitrators, as provided in said section 8,139. Failing to comply with this request within 24 hours, I shall make the appointments as the law provides. Very respectfully,

T. P. Rixey,
Commissioner of Labor, Statistics and Inspection."

The statutes referred to provide that, in case of a strike or lockout, the state commissioner of labor, statistics and inspection may require the appointment of a board of arbitration to inquire into the merits of the case and tender an unbiased opinion.

The statutes set forth that this action may be taken by the labor commissioner only when work is going on. The labor commissioner takes it for granted that, as cars are running, this provision in the statutes does not stand in the way of taking steps toward forming an arbitration board.

The last provision in the statutes relating to arbitration is that if either party to the controversy, five days after the decision is rendered, refuses to accede, the decision is not binding.

At a meeting attended by the presidents of mercantile organizations and clubs and representatives of the daily newspapers of St. Louis, a committee of seven was appointed to call upon the St. Louis Transit Co. and the strikers' grievance committee and ascertain whether both sides are willing to submit their differences to a board of arbitration.

St. Louis, May 31.—All the pent-up fury of the striking employees of the St. Louis Transit Co. and their sympathizers seems to have been expended, for the violent demonstrations and scenes of bloodshed were followed by a pronounced lull. Only one name has been added to the long casualty list, that of Anton Chalupsky, who was shot in the legs by a policeman. Chalupsky and his wife were standing at the corner of 12th and Emmet streets during the passing of a small-sized demonstration near by, and Policeman Himes told them to move on. Chalupsky thought he had a right to remain if he pleased, and so informed the officer. A second order was given, and when Chalupsky refused, he says, the officer used his baton on his head. Chalupsky and his wife then assailed the officer with a shower of bricks. One of them struck Himes on the arm, painfully injuring him. Himes drew his revolver and fired twice at Chalupsky, wounding him in each leg.

Public interest in the strike veered to the special meeting of the police board, called for the purpose of devising heroic measures to bring order out of the strained condition of affairs. The board met during the afternoon and at once decided to call on Sheriff Pohlmann to summon a posse to assist in quelling the disturbances incident to the street car strike, having failed in its efforts to secure 2,500 extra policemen to preserve law and order. The action of the board seems to have been precipitated by the four riots in the southern part of the city Tuesday, during the progress of which 11 persons received bullet wounds. Sheriff Pohlmann was present and held a conference with the commissioners. He stated he had anticipated such a call and had prepared a list of 600 names, including many of the leading citizens of St. Louis, whom he will call to serve as deputies.

After the meeting President Hawes of the board, said the dignity of the city and law both required that all local agencies for the preservation of law and order should be invoked before a demand was made upon the state to assist in preserving peace and quiet. The commissioners had, he said, asked the sheriff to summon a posse of 1,000 men for this purpose and the sheriff had promised to secure them by Friday morning, serving processes upon the best citizens. In this first call for 1,000 men did not prove effective in the next few days the commissioners would, Mr. Hawes further stated, summon another 1,000 and put down disorder in the city from whatever source it might come if it took ten times the number of men asked for in the first call.

Six Years in Prison.

Buffalo, May 30.—Fred L. Newton, the former teller of the Fidelity Trust and Guaranty company charged with embezzling $45,000 of the bank's funds, pleaded guilty Tuesday and was sentenced to six years in Auburn prison.

Sawmill Burned.

Ashland, Wis., May 31.—The team sawmill at Iron River, owned by the Alexander Edgar Co., of Wausau, was destroyed by fire. A dozen cars near by were also burned, but 10,000,000 feet of dry lumber in the yards was saved. The loss is $30,000.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis Not Sick.

New York, May 30.—At the Gerardi hotel it is said that Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who was reported as being sick, was very well and receiving callers. No other information could be obtained.

MARYLAND MONUMENTS.

Erected on Antietam Battlefield to the Memory of the Blue and the Gray—The Shaft Dedicated.

Hagerstown, Md., May 31.—Another link in the chain which binds together the once warring factions of the north and south was forged Wednesday by the dedication of a monument erected to the memory of men who wore the grey as well as those who wore the blue, and who died in mortal combat on the bloody field of Antietam. The event, which is one probably without a parallel in the history of the world, was graced by the presence of the president of the United States, accompanied by many members of his cabinet, a score or more of United States senators, thrice as many members of congress, the governor of Maryland and prominent men from all parts of the country. There were also present hundreds of veterans who fought for the "lost cause" and thousands who fought for the side that proved victorious.

Side by side, shoulder to shoulder, they stood with uncovered heads throughout the ceremony which marked the conveyance of the monument from the state of Maryland to the national government. All animosities forgotten, they listened to the simple stories of those who told of the heroism of the dead and of the desperate struggles of those who survived the battle and still live to tell the many incidents of the day of carnage and strife.

The monument is of granite and bronze, octagon, 22 feet in diameter at base and 35 feet high to the top of the statue. Upon the base rest columns, representing eight Maryland commands, who were present at the battle, muted in supporting the Temple of Liberty, which is of bronze and forms the canopy. The whole is surmounted by a bronze statue, representing "Peace," with sword sheathed and pointed downward. The figure holds a laurel wreath over the hilt of the sword. On four of the faces of the monument are bronze bas-reliefs, representing scenes in the battle. On the interior faces of the buttresses are eight bronze tablets, bearing in raised letters the name and record of the Boers must still be somewhere in the field.

The Boer forces are dissolving. Lord Roberts apparently has not yet taken any considerable quantities of artillery, arms or stores. Large bodies of Boers must be still be somewhere in the field.

Waterfall, or Waterfall Boven, is 130 miles due east of Pretoria, on the Delagoa Bay railway. It should not be confused with Waterfall, ten miles north of Pretoria, where the British prisoners are. Waterfall Boven is a small place in a mountainous country. The seat of the Boer government—what there is left of it—will probably be Lydenburg, to the north.

A dispatch from Lourenco Marques, delivered Wednesday, says: "Commandant Kraus has surrendered Johannesburg to Lord Roberts. By tonight's train from Pretoria arrived a few Greeks, who say they were told to leave Pretoria Tuesday. They affirm that the train in which they left was shelled by the British and that half of the train was cut off, the remainder steaming away. This incident probably occurred at Elandsfontein junction. Passengers from Pretoria assert that the town is utterly demoralized. There is a mad rush for the coast. Five train loads of fugitives are expected here to-night."

By the release of the British prisoners at Waterfall a full brigade will be added to the army of Lord Roberts, as there were 177 officers and 4,158 privates among them.

Events elsewhere in the field of war seem to dwindle in comparison. Gen. Hunter re-entered the Transvaal at Maribogopan Tuesday. The advance was made off the railway. Water is scarce and all the farms are deserted. Yesterday Gen. Hunter reached Geysdorp with ten days' supplies.

Maribogopan is half way between Vryburg and Matfekeng. Geysdorp is from 12 to 15 miles east. Gen. Hunter meets with no resistance.

Gen. Baden-Powell is invading furiously without opposition, Commandant Snyman having gone toward Pretoria. In Northern Natal, Utrecht has surrendered to Gen. Hildyard, and Gen. Lytton is moving to Vryheid. Three different correspondents estimate the number of Boers at Laing's Nek at about 10,000.

INSURGENTS RUSH A TOWN.

Five Americans Killed and Seven Wounded Within a Few Miles of Manila.

Manila, May 31.—On Tuesday night the insurgents rushed San Miguel de Mayumo, province of Bulacan, Luzon, garrisoned by three companies of the 35th volunteer infantry. They swept through the surprised town, shooting right and left, killing five Americans and wounding seven. Capt. D. R. Roberts and two privates are missing. No Filipino dead were discovered.

San Miguel de Mayumo is a few miles from Manila.

While a band under the escort of troops of the 46th infantry was moving from Manil to Silang, within 25 miles of Manila, it was attacked by Ladrones, three of the party being killed.

Steamship Successfully Launched.

Philadelphia, May 30.—The ocean steamship Sierra, built for the Ocean Steamship Co., was successfully launched at Cramp's shipyard. She was christened by Miss Cassie L. Hayward, daughter of Capt. Henry M. Hayward, who will command her.

Railroads Not to Consolidate.

New York, May 30.—W. H. Newman, president of the Lake Shore railroad, who owns the stock of the Lake Erie & Western railroad, says there is no truth in the statement that the two roads are to be consolidated.

PERSEVERE.

You are high and higher aiming
(Earned effort needs no shamming),
With enthusiasm claiming
A career:
You would scale the heights of learning
For deep erudition yearning—
Slothful ease and byways spurning—
Persevere.

Covet wealth? Then work and win it,
And persist when you begin it,
There is satisfaction in it,
Never fear:

Or you long for marital glory—
Want your name in song and story,
Never heed the gashes gory,

Persevere.

Pleasure pleads, be wise, eschew it,
If you waver you will rue it,
Choose your path and then pursue it,
Year by year;

Peek hearts are happy never,
Nothing gained without endeavor,
Loyal to your purpose ever,
Persevere.

On the heights the crown is gleaming,
Where success is softly beaming,
Difficulties, mighty seeming,
Disappear,

If you face them firm and fearless,
Through the path is cold and cheerless.

At the prize is precious, peerless,

Persevere.

The World Against Him

Capt. Winkle paled and interlaced his fingers tightly on the smooth top of the mahogany table. For one second he glared like a condemned man at the speaker and then the fierce stare of her eyes bore his own to the ground.

"Perhaps," spoke up Mr. Hardy, whose jests were rare and often too personal, and who did not admire the captain. "perhaps Capt. Winkle did not tell us all the story after all. I noticed that he was not wearing his togs today."

Capt. Winkle seemed to have lost his speech. And the colonel, fearing that his daughter had inadvertently made a disagreeable comparison, frowned up at her.

"What are you talking about, Evelyn?" he asked sharply.

"Oh, only a little story I have read," she said, coldly. "I shall try to look it up. It had a beautiful moral."

With that parting shot at the cowering victim of his own folly, she drew Mrs. Lancaster again out on the veranda.

"Why, dear, you have almost frightened me," said Mrs. Lancaster, under her breath. "What did you mean by what you said?"

"I meant to cut the very soul of that little coward, if he has one," the girl said, fiercely. "I almost feel as if I ought to have exposed him to the others before whom he was posing as a brave man when he is no more than—"

Evelyn had been speaking so rapidly that her words ran upon one another and became a jumbled, unintelligible mass.

Mrs. Lancaster turned Evelyn's white, impassioned face towards the light of the moon and grasped her rigid hands. "You almost frighten me, darling," she repeated; "what has wrought you up to such a pitch of excitement?"

"I think I ought to tell you all about it," answered Evelyn, after a moment's deliberation, "but it must be in confidence."

"You can trust me, dear," the sweet old lady assured her.

They sat down in a hammock and Evelyn kept it in motion with her slipped feet as they rested lightly on the floor.

"Do you remember the young man I showed you at church that day?"

"The one," questioned Mrs. Lancaster, "who you said had saved your life?"

"Yes: do you remember him?"

"Quite well: his face made a wonderful impression on me, and I have thought of him a hundred times after all you told me of his struggle to better his condition and educate himself. I don't think I ever saw a finer specimen of physical manhood; he had a superb face. Were you alluding to him?"

Then in a low voice full of agitation Evelyn explained.

For several minutes after the girl had finished the old lady remained silent, then she asked gently, cautiously, as if she were treading on ground upon which she had not been invited:

"Do you realize what all this means, dear Evelyn?"

"I realize that Mr. Fanshaw is a friend of mine, and that Capt. Winkle has tried to humiliate him in public."

"I did not mean exactly that," the widow corrected, quickly. "It is your own danger that I am thinking about."

"My danger?" Evelyn emphasized the first word.

"Yes, you see it is difficult for a young girl to be wholly in sympathy with such a noble, suffering character as this Mr. Fanshaw without running a risk of becoming dangerously interested. Young girls are prone to care for what is withheld from them, and you may not be an exception to the rule. You ought to keep the fact always before you that nothing but disaster could come from an alliance with one so far beneath you, at least in point of birth; see what I mean."

Evelyn drew herself up stiffly.

"You need have no fears in that direction," she averred. "We have neither of us thought of that."

"Not," gently persisted the old lady.

"You may not even know your own heart. I am afraid you could not have been so fierce just now had the captain been talking about any other man."

"I don't like to think for a moment, Mrs. Lancaster, that Mr. Fanshaw is beneath us in my respect."

"Ah," interrupted the older woman,

"that is still another proof of your peril; you even want to feel that he is your equal, when, my poor child, all that you may know him to be mentally, morally or otherwise cannot make him so. Remember your father's pride—the high standing of your family. It would break his heart, Evelyn."

"What would break his heart?" burst belatedly from the girl's lips.

"It would break his heart to refuse you anything, and yet he could not consent to your marrying into such a family as Mr. Fanshaw's."

Evelyn's face was very white, and in the moonlight it looked ghastly.

"I have never dreamt of such a thing," she said, quite truthfully. "I have thought only of his happiness—I have only prayed that he might triumph over all the obstacles in his way to success and happiness."

The negro quarter, consisting of a village of about thirty log cabins, lay on the left of the mansion, and from its intricate, lanelike streets came three mulatto musicians, carrying a guitar, a mandolin and a mouth organ. They paused at the steps and began playing. This caused the card players, who were evidently tired of their game, to rise and come out on the veranda, the colonel last of all, clapping his fat hands in unison with the music.

Mrs. Lancaster spoke quickly, as if she feared the others might come down to where she and Evelyn sat.

"I fondly hope Mr. Fanshaw will succeed. He may become a great man in time, but he ought not to be hampered by anything, and I know of no greater hindrance to a young man than for him to love some one above his station. Therefore, dear, you must be very careful: you must not allow him to fall in love with you."

"In love with me?" the words were spoken scarcely louder than a whisper, and then Mrs. Lancaster felt a shudder pass through the figure in her arms. Evelyn was thinking of a look she had seen in Ronald Fanshaw's eyes as they sat alone that morning.

At this juncture the couple saw Capt. Winkle sauntering down the veranda towards them.

"He is looking for you," said the widow, "shall I leave you alone with him?"

Evelyn's voice sounded harsh when she replied:

"I presume you might as well; it is plain that he wants to have it out with me. I think I can manage him."

Mrs. Lancaster rose as the officer drew near.

"I think I shall ask the musicians to play my favorite," she said, speaking at Winkle, to whom she had nodded.

As she moved away the captain started to sit in the hammock beside its occupant, but Evelyn promptly stood up and leaned against the balustrade. Her action was greeted with a grunt of disapproval on the part of the young man.

"It is just a little cool at this end," she said, half apologetically.

"You make me feel that it is decidedly so," he retorted. "But I hope you will bear the temperature a moment longer."

"You wish to speak to me, sir?"

He was evidently under great agitation and he seemed to reduce his voice to calmness only by extra effort.

"I have for some time suspected that you were allowing yourself to become interested in that country bumpkin," he said, almost brutally; "but I did not dream till to-night that you were in correspondence with him."

"Most of your dreams occur at night, do they not, captain?" Evelyn had lifted her eyebrows and was smiling coldly, defiantly.

"I guess there is no dream about your corresponding with him—at least that he has written you to-day," returned Winkle, in a white heat. "You have been in the house all the afternoon, and besides no one but him could have—could have—"

Winkle found himself sliding into a pitfall of his own making, and the startled vacuity of his small face caused Evelyn to laugh out immoderately.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "you think he wrote me about the shearing process."

For a moment the captain could only stare stupidly, then a lame defense came to his lips.

"I could not think of anyone else who could report such a lie to you," he said.

"I can't believe that Mr. Fanshaw would write me a deliberate falsehood," she returned, still smiling tantalizingly. "He is quite truthful and honorable."

Winkle's lip curled and quivered impotently.

"Do you consider it an honorable thing to write a lie about a man—a—a rival? I presume I may call him that, since you have encouraged him to that extent."

"He has never thought of you as a—a rival," mocked Evelyn, with a pronounced sneer. She moved towards the others, but he grasped her arm and detained her. His fury was now unbridled.

"I shall report this to your father," he threatened.

"You intend to tell my father that I correspond with Mr. Fanshaw?" she asked, sternly, coldly.

"I shall feel it my duty as his friend, knowing that he would disapprove of it, and that you are doing a most foolish thing."

"Then you will tell him a falsehood," she said, with a white smile, and eyes which flashed like diamonds in the moonlight.

"You do not correspond with him? He has not written to you to-day?"

"He has never written me a line in his life. I happened to be a listener to his challenge and a witness to your cowardice. As for his unique humor, I actually quivered with delight when he cut off your brazen badges of bravery. He repented of having done it—like a brave man would—when he saw that I had seen it all, and he gave me the things to sew back on your coat, but you are fighting with a woman now, and I shall retain them. I may need them in the future."

He shrank from her as if she had struck him in the face. And with a little taunting laugh, Evelyn left him. She was so agitated that she avoided the others who were listening to the negroes as they sang a spirited ballad.

If Ronald Fanshaw could have witnessed what passed at Carnleigh that evening, it might have softened his sharp self-censure for what he had done in the heat of passion. He had always looked upon duelling as radically wrong, and he now told himself he had gone too far in further humiliating a man after he had tacitly thrown himself on his mercy. Before he had quitted the colonel's wood that morning he was brought face to face with a product of his example that added a fresh sting to his general discontent.

He had almost reached the boundary fence when he came upon his shaggy-haired, barefooted brother, standing up to his ankles in the wet loam of a swampy spot. Dave was leaning on a ridge as tall and sturdy-looking as himself, an old-fashioned treasure which he brought out only on special occasions, such as prize shooting matches—at which he was a champion shot—and when there was a threatened "black uprising."

"Why, Dave, what are you doing here?" Ronald asked, in astonishment.

"Huh! I ain't a-doin' nothin', but what I would a-done, ef I'd a-been needed would a-been plenty."

His brother stared at him.

"You mean you thought of taking a hand, Dave?"

"I was a-goin' to give you yore chance fust," said the fellow; "but, you bet, I was a-goin' to see which one was able to keep on his feet after the scrap, an' if it had a-been him, he'd a-been my meat. I blowed this tube out with a prayer" (Dave patted his gun caressingly and smiled). "I kissed my patchin', blessed my powder, an' rammed my lead home with the arm of justice to all men."

Dave, that would have been murder."

"Murder a dog's hind foot! Ef that little cymlin'-headed puppy had killed you, Ron, I'd a-settled his hash of I'd a-had to do it with my bare fists."

Dave broke into an impulsive laugh. "By hunkey, Ron, you give me the shivers awhile ago. I wasn't nigh enough to hear what was passin' twixt you an' him, but when I seed you draw yore knife an' ketch 'im by the collar, I thought you was goin' to dig out his heart, an' that he was a-goin' to stand still while you was at it. What in the name of common sense was you doin'?"

"I SHALL REPORT THIS TO YOUR FATHER," HE THREATENED.

Ronald gave him the benefit of an explanation, and Dave laughed incredulously.

"An' you didn't even slap his jaws?"

"No, I was satisfied."

"Well," was the philosophical remark, as the speaker drew one of his feet out of the mire and prepared to eat, an' growed on vines. I wouldn't send you out to pick none fur my dinner."

CHAPTER VI.

One morning in the month of July, when Ronald returned from his tobacco field, he found a score or more mountaineers in the front yard. They were discussing an awful crime that had been committed about dawn that day. Mrs. Telplay, a widow who lived in a cottage at the foot of the mountain, was found brutally murdered. It had been generally known that she kept quite a sum of money in an old hair trunk under her bed, having always refused to take the advice of her friends to put her savings in a more secure place. The trunk was found to have been split open by the bloody ax which had killed her owner, and the money was gone.

Sydney Hart, a tall, raw-boned young man, with sharp black eyes and a big mustache dyed to match, sat astride his fine horse and told what he knew of the affair. As he talked he fanned his aquiline face with his sombrero.

"As soon as Jeff, that's her nigger boy, came in to make the fires," he was saying as Ronald approached, "he seed what had happened, an' run out to give the alarm."

"Didn't nobody suspicion 'Jeff,'" queried old Fanshaw, who sat on the steps in his stockings.

"Don't he so blamed fast," snarled the narrator, with a frown. He could not abide interruption. He was a sort of leader of moonshiners, though it had never been proven against him, and he was accustomed to more respect than he deserved.

"Well, go on," grunted Fanshaw.

"You are about as good at tellin' a thing as a one-legged man is at a kickin' bee. You no sooner make a start than you kick the end o' your spine up in the ground an' thar you are."

The crowd laughed impulsively, but the fierce glare of Syd Hart's eyes soon put an end to the merriment.

"You must a-had razor soup fur breakfast," he grunted, letting his eyes rest on Fanshaw, and then he began to smile. "Thar wasn't no use a suspicious Jeff," he proceeded; "fur as soon as the news got out Thad Williams straddled his mare an' notified the sheriff. Ratcliff is quick on trigger, an' he tuck Thad's mare an' made for the spot armed to the teeth."

"Well, did he ketch the one that did it?" broke in Dave Fanshaw, impatiently, and anyone could have seen from his face that he was not one of Hart's followers.

Syd bent his eyes on Dave's face and sneered. "You are like yore daddy," he observed, "you want yore hog 'fore it's barbecued. Yes, you bet he ketched 'im; that's what he was out after. About half a mile from the widow's house he run across a young stranger a-hidin' in a barn nigh the tale mines. He was too good a thing to be missed, so Ratcliff arrested 'im then an' thar made 'im turn 'is pockets wrong side out. He had fifty dollars in hard cash, an' more, his hands were red in streaks, an' he had blood on his handkerchief an' shirt-sleeves. He was a young fellow, an' cried like a baby; he said he hadn't killed nobody, nor stole nobody's money, but Ratcliff tuck 'im in tow. He was such a little fellow that Ratcliff 'lowed folks ud get the laugh on 'im if he roped or handcuffed 'im, so he started on with 'im jes so. They made it all right till they got back home to the beginnin' o' Col. Hasbro's swamp. That, at Swift's cabin, Ratcliff stopped to git a light fur his cigar. Nobody ever heard tell o' him takin' a prisoner to jail without he had a cigar stuck in his jew. He don't spend a dollar a year fur cigars, but he has to smoke one when he jugs a man. He had just call'd fur a chunk o' fire, an' Miz Swif was fetchin' it out to 'im, when lo an' behold, the little stranger showed

THE piano is no longer an article of luxury designed exclusively for the professional musician or the rich of musical taste or purchased as a parlor ornament, but instead it has become a household necessity and within the reach of all.

CONTENTIONS SUSTAINED.

The San Francisco Board of Health Enjoined From Enforcing the Plague Quarantine.

San Francisco, May 29.—The United States circuit court of appeals, Judges Morrow, Hawley and Dehaven sitting en banc, issued the injunction prayed for by the Chinese residents of this city, restraining the board of health authorities from interfering with the free movements of the Mongolian residents of San Francisco and their freedom in traveling to and from this city.

The complaint stated that, in enforcing the terms of a resolution adopted by the board of health declaring that plague existed in this city, they were restrained of their liberty granted them under the constitution of the United States and the existing treaties between the government of the United States and the Chinese government; that the authorities discriminated against the Mongolian race in singling out the Chinese and Japanese for the enforcement of the terms of the resolution; that the Halline prophylactic was not the proper treatment for persons already exposed to the plague, and that neither the board of health nor the federal authorities had proved that a single case of plague existed in this city or state.

The court sustained every contention in the complaint and granted the injunction.

San Francisco, May 29.—The house to house inspection of Chinatown is being continued by the inspectors of the board of health, but as yet no case of bubonic plague has been discovered. Confidence is being restored among the Chinese, and it is expected that most of the Chinese will reopen their stores.

Denver, Col., May 29.—The state board of health decided to quarantine against the entrance of Chinese and Japanese into Colorado. Until further notice is given no Chinaman or Japanese may enter the state without a certificate signed by the health officers of the city whence he came stating he has not been exposed to bubonic plague during the six weeks immediately preceding the date of his application.

FINISHED THEIR WORK.

The Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church Has Adjourned.

Chicago, May 29.—The quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which for a month past has been sitting here, considering questions affecting the welfare of the denomination, has closed and many of the delegates have left for their homes.

The last day's session settled one of the most interesting questions brought before the conference—the reports of the committee on temperance and the committee on the state of the church in regard to the ban on card-playing, theater-going, dancing, and other amusements.

A strong political color was given the discussion on the temperance question by the bitter arraignment of President McKinley because of his attitude on the anti-anteente law, but after some decidedly warm debate the conference refused to criticise the attitude of the chief magistrate by striking out, by an overwhelming vote, all reference to any action on his part or to the attorney general Griggs.

The minority report on amusements, accepted Saturday, was, to the surprise of many, laid on the table, which action leaves the paragraph in the book of discipline exactly as it was before the question was considered.

Judge John P. Rea Dead.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—Judge John P. Rea, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. in 1887-8, died at his home here from hardening of the brain. He was born at Lower Oxford, Chester county, Pa., October 13, 1840. He entered the army as a private in company B, 11th Ohio infantry, April 16, 1861. He was promoted for gallantry several times, and November 2, 1863, he was breveted major for gallantry in action at Cleveand, Tenn.

Philippines Surrendering.

Washington, May 29.—The war department has received the following cablegram from Gen. MacArthur, at Manila, dated Monday:

"Three officers, 56 men, with 46 rifles, surrendered unconditionally at Cuyapo yesterday. Three officers, 46 men, with 55 rifles, surrendered unconditionally to-day at Tarlac. These spontaneous surrenders are very encouraging."

Grand Stand and Pavilion Burned.

Cincinnati, May 29.—The grand stand and the fifty-cent seat stand at the League ball park were destroyed by fire at an early hour Monday morning, entailing a loss that is estimated at $15,000. The origin is a mystery, but there is a strong suspicion that some enemy of the management of the club set the place on fire in a spirit of revenge.

Several Workmen Killed.

Southampton, May 29.—The concrete piles of new cold storage premises in course of construction at the Southampton docks collapsed Monday afternoon and the structure fell, burying fifty workmen, several of whom were killed. Others were fatally injured, and many are still missing.

Arrived at Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, May 29.—The transport Hancock has arrived here with the members of the new Philippine commission, on its way to Manila.

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE.

It Was a Decided Success at Most of the Places on the Line of the Totality.

Washington, Ga., May 29.—The success attending the eclipse observations here was highly gratifying. Prof. Alfred E. Burton, in charge of the expedition from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gave out the following statement at 9 o'clock:

The weather here was perfect. Latitude 33 degrees 43 minutes; longitude, 5 hours 30 minutes 56 and two-tenths seconds; G. L. Hosmer, observer. The first contact was at 7 hours, 2 minutes, 15 8-10 seconds, local mean time; second contact 8 hours, 9 minutes, 52 5-10 seconds. The time of totality was 1 minute, and 25-30 seconds. A. G. Robbins, observer. The magnetometer showed no disturbance in magnetic declination. Seven sketches were made of the corona and six photographs taken by Harrison W. Smith.

Prof. W. H. Pickering, at the head of Yale's expedition, furnished the following statement:

"The weather here was perfect and the observations were entirely satisfactory. We secured thirty-six plates with intra-mercurial apparatus and thirteen-four with thirteen other cameras, aided by nineteen assistants. The plates will be developed in Cambridge observatory. Visually, with five-inch telescope, the corona resembled that of the '89 eclipse. Two large solar protuberances were noted. Our polar filaments, six seconds in diameter, traced the corona about one degree. The shadow of the moon on the sky and shadow bands were well seen. Venus and Mercury were conspicuous. The inner corona was visible in the telescope several seconds after totality was over. There was no dark band around the moon's limb during the partial phase and no detail on the moon during totality."

Columbus, Ga., May 29.—Columbus had a fairly good view of the eclipse although the sky was partly cloudy. The line of totality was but seven miles above the city. All of the observations made were of a private character. Numbers of parties went to the high hills surrounding the city and the street cars took special parties to the parks. Schools and courts were an hour late in convening, and a general holiday was observed. The most distinct and impressive feature of the phenomena was the withdrawal of the heavy black shadow and the instantaneous lighting up of objects in its wake. Stars were visible in the west.

Norfolk, Va., May 29.—The eclipse was seen here to the very best advantage. Totality began at 8:53 1/4 and ended at 8:53:39. Observations taken by scientists from Washington and New England observers were most satisfactory. Totality came with a suddenness that made spectators jump and some women shriek. The planet Mercury was plainly visible. Venus could also be seen. During totality there was a bright ray of light seen about the entire horizon. Lamps had to be lighted in stores and fireworks were sent up. The Negro population became almost frantic, it being their belief that the world was coming to an end. Many took to the woods.

IN HAWAII.

Preparations Being Made to Establish an Internal Revenue Office in Honolulu.

San Francisco, May 29.—Collector of Internal Revenue Lynch is making preparations to establish an office in Honolulu, the Hawaiian islands, having been added to the district of California. The internal revenue laws go into effect in Hawaii on June 14. All deputies at the Honolulu office will be selected from citizens of Hawaii. The stocks of beer, wines, liquors, opium, cigars and tobacco now in the islands will be inspected and inventoried. After June 14 goods from the United States must be stamped before being sent to the islands.

TWO MURDERS AT ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—Atlanta had two murders in one night, attended by unusual circumstances. Henry Kemp, a Negro, was standing in a crowded Negro saloon on Deader street, when an unknown man stepped lightly by him, and as he passed plunged a knife into Kemp's abdomen, gave it a savage rake and then escaped. On Peters street Dick Holmes and Tobe Smith, drunken Negroes, quarreled over 10 cents and Holmes plunged a dagger through Smith's heart.

Guard Against the Plague.

San Francisco, May 29.—In accordance with the power vested in it by the board of supervisors of this city, the board of health has quarantined Chinatown, and that section of the city is now surrounded by a cordon of police, who refuse to allow any one to pass in or out of the district unless he is provided with a proper permit. The quarantine order also includes the street cars, which are not allowed to pass through the district.

Will Fight Chicago Builders.

Chicago, May 29.—Building trades workmen in every city in the United States where there is a branch of the National Building Trades council are to be asked to cease work on buildings where the contracts are held by Chicago builders until the labor trouble in this city is settled.

New York Brokers Fall.

New York, May 29.—Seymour, Johnson & Co., stock and cotton brokers, announced their failure on the Stock and Cotton exchange Monday morning.

England, France, America and Russia Land Marines in China.

Five Russian and One British Warship Have Arrived at Taku—Other Vessels Are Hourly Expected.

Tien Tsin, May 31.—American, British, Japanese, German, Italian, Russian and French troops to the number of 100 each have been ordered to guard their respective legations at Pekin, but the viceroy here will not allow them to proceed hence to Pekin on the railway without the authority of the Tsung-Li-Yamen. One hundred and eight Americans, with a machine gun and a field gun, landed here Tuesday night amidst great enthusiasm on the part of the residents. Five Russian and one British warship have arrived at Taku and the British are now landing.

Other warships are hourly expected.

Three thousand Chinese troops from Liu Tai were expected here Wednesday en route to Fang Tai.

There is a disposition here to believe that the "Boxers" will disperse before the foreign troops are ready to act.

rekin, May 29 (Tuesday).—From all parts of the surrounding country news is constantly arriving of fresh atrocities committed by the "Boxers." Three Christian families were massacred at Shan Lan Ling, 60 miles from Pekin. Friday, May 25. Only two escaped.

A press representative visited Fang Tai this morning and found the place occupied by a battalion of troops. The whole railroad station, work shops and locomotive sheds were gutted and much rolling stock was destroyed, including the imperial palace car. Large godowns (Chinese warehouses) full of valuable merchandise were burned after having been looted by the rioters. The damage done is estimated at half a million taels.

The neighboring villagers seem to have joined in the attack, showing that the movement is not confined to the "Boxers." Eight rioters who were captured will be decapitated.

Riding through the south gate of Pekin the correspondent found the road inside the walls lined with troops who greeted the traveler and his party with a fusilage of stones. The whole country is much excited.

Loudon, May 31.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says: "The Chinese government has issued an edict prohibiting the Boxers' organization under penalty of death. The edict, which was signed by the emperor, was couched in equivocal terms and promulgated really more as an excuse than in condemnation of the movement."

The Daily Mail has received the following from Tien Tsin, dated May 30: "Heavy fighting has taken place between the imperial troops and the Boxers at Lai-Shan-Hi-Sien, but the result is not known here. Railway traffic at Pekin has been resumed. The foreign settlement here is sufficiently protected by the American and Japanese troops which have been landed. Consequently the excitement has abated."

PHILIPPINE COMMISSION.

Are in Consultation With Consul General Wildman—Leave Hong Kong for Manila Friday.

Hong Kong, May 31.—President McKinley's new Philippine commission has been engaged in consultation with Consul General Wildman. The members of the commission probably will leave for Manila on Friday. It is likely that Wildman will accompany them.

The British colonial officials are extending every courtesy to the commissioners, endeavoring to familiarize them with the colonial methods of the English.

A policy has been formulated since the arrival of the commissioners and they confidently believe that they will be able to pacify the Filipinos.

Consul General Wildman has urged upon the commissioners the following policies:

Free trade, the free admission of the Chinese, the expulsion of the friars, and the return of all property that has been confiscated legally.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Summary of Leading Events.

Washington, May 24.—Senate—The duty of the United States toward its "island possessions" was the subject of heated political discussion. No business was transacted.

House—For eight hours the members discussed the Alaskan civil government bill. But little progress was made. An amendment was adopted authorizing the secretary of war to issue permits to excavate or dredge for gold below low-water mark on the beach at Cape Nome. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was adopted.

Washington, May 25.—Senate—A discussion on the Spooner Philippine bill occupied most of the time. The sundry civil appropriation bill, which carries $65,812,930, or over $4,000,000 more than as it passed the house, was taken up and 157 pages disposed of.

House—Two hours were devoted to considering the Alaskan civil government bill without completing it. The remainder of the session was devoted to private pension bills. Among those favorably acted upon were the senate bills to pension the widow of the late Capt. Gridley, who commanded the Olympia in the battle of Manila, at $50 per month.

Washington, May 26.—Senate—A resolution was adopted providing for a congressional investigation of the Cuban postal frauds. The credentials of Senator-elect Blackburn, signed by Gov. Beckham, of Kentucky, were presented and filed. Mr. Pettigrew's resolution calling upon the secretary of war for a statement of the number of Filipinos who have been killed by United States troops in the present insurrection was agreed to.

House—The Hay resolution, calling upon the postmaster general for certain information regarding the reports of E. G. Rathbone, director of the posts in Cuba, was adopted without division. Another resolution, calling upon the secretary of war to report in detail the payments made and to whom from the revenues of Cuba and Porto Rico, was also adopted.

Washington, May 28.—Senate—The reading of the sundry civil appropriation bill was completed, but not all of the committee amendments have been disposed of. A lively debate was precipitated over the proposition to continue the life of the industrial commission until October 31, 1901.

House—The Alaskan civil government bill was passed. Other bills passed were: Authorizing the president to appoint ten first lieutenants of the signal corps, whose commissions shall expire June 30, 1901, and to provide six additional officers in the subsistence bureau of the war department; to ratify the agreement of the commission to the five civilized tribes and the Seminole Indians; to restore to the public domain a small tract of White mountain Apache Indian reservation, Arizona; to exchange gold bars for gold coin.

Washington, May 29.—Senate—An amendment appropriating $8,000,000 for the Louisiana purchase exposition to be held in St. Louis in 1903 was added to the sundry civil appropriation bill on condition that $10,000,000 in addition be raised by the exposition authorities. The Teller resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers was referred to the committee on foreign relations by a vote of 40 to 26.

House—The conference report on the post office appropriation bill was agreed to. It carried $225,000 for pneumatic tube service. The bill now goes to the president.

Washington, May 30.—Senate—Not in session.

House—An unsuccessful effort was made to get the anti-trust resolution before the house. One hundred and ninety private pension bills were passed.

CLAIMANTS DISSATISFIED.

The State Department Will Probably Accept the Delagou Arbitration Award.

Washington, May 31.—It is probable that the state department will accept the result of the arbitration in the Delagou railroad case. The Me-Murdo heirs, the only American claimants against the Portuguese government, are very much dissatisfied at the outcome of the arbitration, which reduced their allowance from about $1,500,000 to an insignificant fraction of that sum.

Naturally they are anxious that the United States government should refuse to accept the arbitration. But the British government, representing a very much larger claim in the same arbitration, so far has shown no sign of a disposition to reject the verdict, and as it would be an unparalleled action for one party to an arbitration to reject the conclusions, the United States government must accept the findings of the Swiss arbitrators in this case, though satisfied of the inadequacy of their allowance.

St. Louis Exposition Appropriation.

Washington, May 30.—The senate committee on appropriation Tuesday agreed to Senator Cockrell's amendment to the sundry civil bill, appropriating $5,000,000 for the Louisiana purchase exposition at St. Louis in 1903.

Sleep Changes the Verdict.

The jury in a recent law suit unanimously agreed upon the verdict, sealed it and went home to bed. After sleeping over it, they went home the next morning. This shows the power of sleep to strengthen the human mind. Those who are troubled with insomnia should try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It relieves the stomach of bad conditions and induces sound sleep. It is the best remedy for kidney, liver and blood disorders.

The Victims, in Boston.
"Yes," replied the Boston parent, "a boy soon acquires vicious habits if he is suffered to mingle with street boys. Once I thought otherwise, and permitted our Emerson to choose his playmates as chance should throw them in his way. It wasn't a week, sir, until that boy, in spite of his hereditary tendencies and the careful home training he had received, was asking me hypothetical questions that simply reeked with casuistry!"—Puck.

Particular About His Shoes.

A western couple who were on a visit to New York for the first time put up at the Waldorf-Astoria during their stay in this city, and what was left of their first day in New York they largely devoted to viewing the decorations of the hotel. The mighty rooms, the Astor gallery and the great ballroom were viewed by them, and the magnificence of the appointments and opponent decorations left them breathless. They said little, however, in comment, but that awe was one of the feelings that what they had witnessed gave rise to was evidenced by the husband, who, upon retiring for the night, when he was asked by his faithful spouse, if, according to his usual custom, he was not going to put his shoes outside to be blackened, emphatically replied: "Not much. If I did they'd gild them."—N. Y.

Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex.

If the Egyptian custom prevailed in this country, many sufferers would be glad to cover their premature wrinkles, their sunkencheeks, their unhealthy complexion, from the eyes of the world with the veil of the Orient.

CATARRH: FORERUNNER OF CONSUMPTION.

Few realize what a deep-seated, obstinate disease Catarrh is, regarding it as a simple inflammation of the nose and throat, little or no attention is given it. But, however insignificant it may seem at first, it is serious and far-reaching in its results.

The foul secretions entering the circulation poison the entire system. The stomach, kidneys—in fact all the organs—feel the effect of this catarrhal poison, and when the lungs are reached its progress is rapid and destructive, and finally ends in consumption.

It frequently happens that the senses of hearing and smell are in part entirely lost, the soft bones of the nose eaten into and destroyed, causing intense suffering and greatly disfiguring the face. While sprays, washes and salves may give temporary relief, no permanent benefit can be expected from such treatment.

CATARRH IS A CONSTITUTIONAL OR BLOOD DISEASE, and far beyond the reach of mere local remedies. Those who rely upon them for a cure lose valuable time, meet with disappointment and allow the disease to take firmer hold. Only a real blood remedy can reach this troublesome and dangerous disease.

S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it first cleanses and builds up the blood, purifies it, makes it rich and healthy, stimulates and puts new life into the sluggish worn-out organs, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous accumulations.

Mrs. Josephine Pugh, of Due West, S. C., writes: "I had Catarrh, which became so deep-seated that I was entirely deaf in one ear, and all inside of my nose, including part of the bone, dropped off. When the disease had gone this far the physician gave me up as incurable. I determined to try S. S. S. as a last resort, and began to improve at once. It seemed to get at the seat of the disease, and after a few weeks' treatment I was entirely cured, and for more than seven years have had no sign of the disease."

S. S. S. is made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful tonical and purifying properties. It is the only vegetable blood purifier known, and a certain and safe cure for all blood troubles. Send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases, and at the same time write our physicians about your case. They will cheerfully give you any information or advice wanted. We make no charge for this.

Woman's Rights.

Many women suffer all sorts of so-called "female weaknesses" just because their kidneys are out of order and they have a right to know Foley's Kidney Cure is just what is needed by most ail-ing women. Clarke & Kenney.

To Asthma Sufferers.

Lewis Evidge of Barrington, Ill., says he was cured of chronic asthma, long standing by Pholey's H. M. & T. It gives positive relief in all cases of asthma, so this disease, when not completely cured, is robbed of all its terror by this great remedy. Clarke & Kenney.

Question Answered.

Yes August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers, and grandmothers, never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.
